

MARK WALSH
Barrister-at-Law
Seven Wentworth
7/180 Phillip Street
SYDNEY

Mark Walsh has practised as a barrister since 1994. His areas of practice include general litigation, commercial disputes, contract, tort, professional negligence recoveries, insurance law, water and mining law.

Mark has a particular interest in evidence, causation, statutory interpretation, practice and procedure, water law, section 151Z and suggesting practical solutions to “interesting” legal problems.

He currently annotates UCPR Part 31 – Evidence for the Thomson service Civil Practice and Procedure and the Appeals Chapter of the Practice and Procedure title in Halsbury’s Laws of Australia. Mark regularly lectures on litigation at seminars conducted by the University of New South Wales, including the Litigation Master Class series.

July 2010